About Us

With over 30 years' experience within the hospitality and security industries, we at BMC Security understand the importance of our staff, as first impression for your business, being smart in appearance, conscientious with a respectable demeanour.

We know that as well as a deterrent and sense of security, your guests want a friendly and approachable face too, which is why all our security operatives are trained and experienced in customer service, conflict management, drug awareness, physical intervention, first-aid and people skills.

Our services are especially tailored for the following establishments:

- Bars
- Restaurants
- Boutique Hotels
- Embassies
- Members Establishments
- Galleries
- Casinos
- Weddings and Special Events
- Theatres
- TV & Film Sets

Security Door Hosts

“ Trained in customer service skills, our door supervisor 'hosts' will complement your business while securing your customers, staff and venue.”

Our staff are carefully selected, vetted and trained to meet the security industry standard, and possess the SIA (Security Industry Authority) Licence. Our system in place monitors and reviews our performance level on a continuous basis. In addition to completing the SIA training course which covers important subjects such as:

- Health and Safety at Work
- Civil and Criminal Law
- Licensing Compliance's
- Searching
- Eviction
- Dealing with drugs and offensive weapons
- First Aid
- Emergency services
- Powers of arrest
- Incident Recording and Scene Preservation
- Conflict management
- Physical Intervention

Our private security operatives also undergo our rigorous in-house training programme, which further equips them with additional skills in operational management, and executive customer relations. This enables them to execute a full range of highly professional security duties. In addition, creating a welcoming reception to enhance the performance and protect brand reputation of our client's businesses.

Special Events

“ From business award ceremonies to Tiki Festivals, BMC Security offer a discreet and professional service to enhance your guests experience.”

Hosting special events such as Secret Brunch, at the illustrious Sushisamba Bishopsgate and NME Awards after party at Sketch London, we will be with you from start to finish, helping you plan and manage all your event security requirements, including risks assessments and venue survey, while supporting front of house and venue management.

Our fully trained and qualified event security operatives will professionally and efficiently handle any situations before they get out of hand. Offering everything from crowd management, first aid, meeting and greeting, as well as ensuring the safety of your guests.

For exhibitions, BMC Security provide well presented, vigilant SIA trained security operatives to protect the venue and valuable assets from the time of 'load in' of stalls and equipment, the event itself, through to the 'load out'. Our operatives carry out patrols, man your doors and ensure that no uninvited visitors disturb your event that you've worked so hard to put together. With additional provisions such as a meet and greet service, we know that as well as a deterrent and sense of security, your guests want a friendly and approachable face too, which is why all our conference and exhibition security officers also have excellent customer service skills.

Close Protection Operatives

“ Our close protection security team provide discreet and unobtrusive executive and VIP protection.”

From executive protection to celebrity and personal security, our close protection security service is discrete, effective and ensures that whether the travel is to and from a venue, another country or event, you're completely protected.

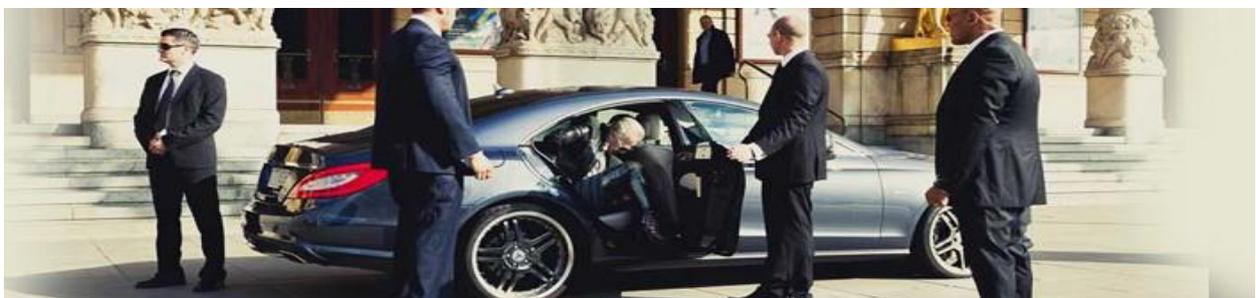

Our close protection operatives, bodyguards and security chauffeurs are SIA qualified, from a military or police background, possessing considerable experience in the field, as well as friendly, well presented, professional and reliable.

Discreet and experienced, we provide risk and threat assessments and assist in your personal safety, in all environments and every situation.

BMC Security has provided unparalleled protection and have managed the security requirements for musicians, fashion designers, models, actors, artists, VIP's, royalty and high net worth individuals.

Hotel Security

" We offer security that can ensure efficient and professional protection whilst maintaining customer service at all times."

In today's current climate, hotels in London are potentially at risk from many different threats, especially given the rise of the terrorism alerts. It has never been so important to provide a vigilant security presence to protect your hotel and guests.

Warren Buffet once quoted - "It takes 20 years to build a reputation and 5 minutes to ruin it." Therefore, all our personnel are carefully selected, vetted and undergo our own rigorous training, with a major focus on customer service.

Conducting themselves respectably and appropriately, our dedicated staff will exceed all your expectations and serve as great representatives for your organisation. We will ensure any persons entering your building will have the relevant permission and only be given access to permitted areas for an appropriate reason.

Working alongside the in-house security team, our staff will also assist in:

- Patrol of public areas and outside spaces
- Screening of external contractors and staff
- Control of after-hours access
- Maintaining of emergency response plan
- Identifying threats and unwanted behaviour
- Logging of all incidents and misdemeanours

TV & Film Set Security

“ From perimeter security to ensuring the safety of cast and crew, BMC Security will give you the peace of mind you need.”

BMC Security provide comprehensive security services within the film and television industry. Our qualified and experienced film location security guards will take a proactive approach to securing your set and protecting both property and personnel.

Through communicating closely with on-site production teams, location managers and film crews, our guards will ensure all your equipment and facilities are completely secure, allowing cast and crew to work safely and uninterrupted.

As part of our SIA security services for film and television, our security guards can provide the following:

- Traffic management (diverting traffic, monitoring vehicle access and maintaining emergency vehicle access in accordance with legislation).
- Crowd management and keeping the public at bay.
- Site patrol and perimeter security.
- Weekend and overnight guards to secure the film set and equipment/vehicles during and after production activity.
- Counter surveillance and anti-paparazzi measures.
- Securing VIP areas and trailers.

We can also offer close protection operatives, bodyguards and security chauffeurs for cast and VIPs where required.
